The wild, Quixotic Fenian demonstration upon the Canadas has terminated, as every sensible person knew it would terminate, in failure and disgrace, but most happily with little loss of life. For this both the Canadians and Fenians are indebted to the seasonable and efficient "intervention" of our Government. Had its action been delayed even a week longer, thousands of irregular bands of disorganized Fenians would have been in Canada, all for ultimate slaughter or captivity, but at great loss of life on both sides. To the Fenians the timely interference of our Government was a mission of pure mercy. It has saved the lives of hundreds, if not thousands, and enabled all to return to their homes, resuming the peaceful occupations from which they were beguiled. As we said in the beginging of this reckless movement, we say now, after its rise, progress and fail, that the leaders were designing knaves or wretched fools. Those leaders deep delayed. and of the foolishness of all there is no question or doubt. They ought to have known better, when they saw that the scheme was discountenanced by their clergy and by all leading intelligent Irishmen. It is a somewhat anomalous position for a scientific man to occupy, and the appearance of the labels, "None genuine unless marked J. The fluid extract is then put into vessels with long narrow necks, for the complete removal of the fat—an operation of great importance, as otherwise the extract would soon become rancid. The solid residue is pressed out, dried and used for chemical purposes. The extract, freed from fat, is filtered and evaporated in open pans of cast sheet steel. He will sanihilate a member in a speech, and then, clapping him on the shoulder, ask the discomfited brother to go with him to lunch. You hear of his many kindly deeds from those who know him best; of the gentle charities which blosson along his private path; of the many poor boys whom he has lifted from poverty and obscurity to give them help and a motive in life. For many years he has been a power in the nation, a leader in the House, marshaling in the van the hosts of liberty. No man is more eagerly listened to. No man perhaps would be so positively missed if he were to pass forever from the Congressional Hall. He has stood here so long, his intellect is so powerful, his personality so positive, his uterances so unique, his spirit so masterful, his memory will not pass away with his generation.

He is one whose sayings will livelong after him. His jeweled witticisms will be set in many a speech, and gleam in many a Congress, when the brain which gave them birth has gone back to dust. But the old lion of the House is fighting his last battles.

Mr. Morrill, I don't wonder your shoulders bend under the burden. The clear eyes to be seen above these shoulders reflect the large intelligence, the delicate honor, the integrity and goodness of the man. Here is a face to believe in without any reservation. It represents a man who, without wronging others, or being false to himself, has patiently toiled on from obscurity to eminence, making life a success to himself and a blessing to others. Because Mr. Morrill works harder than any other man in Congress, except Speaker Colfax, many seem to think of him only as a worker. But this distinguished financier, so hardened with revenues and

PITTEBURG, July 5, 1865.

Mesers. McCABE, KRAFF & Co., Gentiementallow me to add my testimony to that of others, in regard to your celebrated "Diarrhea Compound." I have been for a long time surject to the disease for which it is recommended. I have tried various remedies; but never found one that so completely cradicates the disease as your medicine. A short time ago I was suffering terribly with Diarrhea Compound." I experienced immidiate relief from one dose, and after a third dose felt as well as ever. I regard it as an invaluable medicine, and would not be without it. Yours truly, and would not be without it. Yours truly.
